VALUABLE WINDOWS BROKEN BY BOYS WITH SLINGSHOTS

New Figure Necessary in Doddridge Memorial

POLICE GET COMPLAINTS

Property Owners Who Suffer Meditate How to Catch Youngsters

Windows of houses, and property in general have been made to suffer from the endeavor of small boys to emulate the example of the Biblical David with the sling shot within the past few days. The police have received complaints from property owners where the aim of the youngsters proved not to be so good as that of the worthy exponent of sling shooting in Biblical times, with disastrous results to property.

Recently one of the large plate glass windows of Geo. S. Mights' store was broken by a boy with a sling shot, and a few days afterward the Philip Doddridge memorial window, recently dedicated at St. Mary's Episcopal church, was broken. Both the windows were expensive, and no small amount of damage was done. At St. Mary's church a new figure of a sheep will have to be restored, and this may occasion considerable trouble as well as expense. The window was dedicated by Bishop Whitehead a few Sundays ago, it having been presented by the Altar Guild of the church.

At the Methodist Episcopal church a window was broken, it is thought, by a boy with a sling shot, and other windows along Sixth street and in various parts of town have also been broken.

DIVISION AGENTS DISCUSS BUSINESS

Freight Business Along Line is Gradually Improving

Thirty-two stations were represented at the quarterly meeting of the Monongahela division, P. R. R. Agent's meeting at Pittsburgh yesterday. Superintendent A. G. Mitchell was in charge of the meeting and the discussion of freight business of the division during the three months past, and the formulation of plans for the betterment of freight conditions was the order of business.

Superintendent Mitchell stated yesterday that without exception the reports of the various agents had shown both freight and passenger traffic conditions on the Monongahela division to be in excellent condition. The freight business for the past three months, in spite of the usual summer decrease, has been above the average. Coal tonnage has been exceptionally heavy. A large amount of coke is also being carried.

E. F. Krahmer the local agent was present at the meeting.

Was Too Anxious to Say Goodbye

Man Does Not go to Inconvenience of Raising Window to Greet Friend

His desire to greet a countryman caused a foreigner to unwittingly get into a scrape this morning, near Brownsville, which luckily for him did not have the serious consequences it might have had. The foreigner boarded the Uniontown train due in Charleroi at 9:05 o'clock, at one of the mining villages along the Redstone branch, entering the smoking car. Noticing one of his countrymen standing on the platform he proceeded to forthwith stick his head out the window, without going to the inconvenience of raising it. He was not hurt by the breaking of the glass and went on to Brownsville.

WILL PROVIDE ROUND HOUSE AT MONESSEN

P. & L. E. Railroad to Begin Extensive Improvements Soon to Provide Division Accommodations

Announcement has been made by the P. & L. E. railroad that several thousand dollars will be expended in constructing additional sidings and the buildings of a new round house at Monessen to furnish a place for engines used in that section. The announcement is made jointly with that of the purchase of 20 acres of land from the Pittsburg Coal company.

The tract purchased from the coal company is east of Monessen a few hundred feet, and is admirably adapted for the purpose for the railroad company. The deal was but recently consummated through the W. W. Luce agency at Monessen, and while the purchase price is withheld it is understood that the property brought a handsome figure.

It has been known for some time that the company was being forced to provide greater siding facilities for engines and empty cars in order to meet the demands of the shippers, and it was rumored that the John Irons farm was being negotiated for. Work will be started on the new round house within the near future. The improvement will mean the bringing of many new families to this section.

CHURCH LEAGUE INSTRUMENTAL IN BRINGING UP MANY YOUNG PLAYERS

Minor League Scouts Might do Worse Than Look Over Some of the Charleroi Young Stars

NEARLY EVERY TEAM HAS BRILLIANT BASEBALLISTS

When the Charleroi Church League baseball season ends it will stand some of the minor league scouts in hand to take a run up to Charleroi and look 'em over. During the season a number of the youngsters have made a showing that under regular professional baseball conditions looks promising. Some of them would no doubt develop with regular practice into material that would make good, and readily advance into faster company.

Generally speaking the pitching department and the infield have been where the feature playing has been done. There is a star for every team with the stellar constellations appearing in the weakest as well as the strongest nines. Chief among these young stars might be mentioned Willie Kuhn, the Speers boy, who is playing such sensational ball on shortstop for the Episcopalians, Claude Walch, the fast Baptist first baseman, and "Bob" Newton, the promising young third baseman for the Catholics. In their playing this trio probably outranks all others.

Pete Bege, the Methodist leading twirler, because of his general reliability and versatility, is one of the most valuable players any team has. He is one of the best pitchers in the league, and also one of the best, if not the best, catchers among the youngsters. With the same facility he plays any other position. Other strong pitchers among the youngsters are Fontanesi and Osborne of the Washington Avenues, Miller of the Lutherans, Grover of the Episcopalians, Kieffer of the Christians, Larue of the Presbyterians, Beno and Buchanan of the Catholics, and Pollock of the Methodists. Bragg, the star twirler of the Episcopalians "and Kearnes" the Baptist captain and pitcher, who probably enjoy the best league record, would not probably be considered available as minor league material.

The young players are showing up better than the veterans. Second base has generally been a weak place. Butz, the young Lutheran second

The Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church held their annual picnic and outing at Tuma's Grove, near town, yesterday, and the affair was a most flattering success. Mrs. Tuman besides donating the use of her grove, furnished the picnickers with refreshing farm and dairy products for their dinner.

GOOD GRADE OF ALCOHOL

Southern Concern Will Manufacture Product at Monessen

The Ontario Distilling company, a concern composed chiefly of southern capital, will start the manufacture at Monessen within about two months of a fine grade of alcohol to supply local and foreign markets. The alcohol will be manufactured, it is stated, through a new and infinitely cheaper process than heretofore, and the grade will be the best.

George Smith is one of the head men of the firm, which took over the old plant of the defunct Monessen distilling company last November, and applied for a charter, which was subsequently granted. Since then the machinery has been put in shape, and although the plant has been running during the past few weeks, the real manufacturer of the product has not yet begun. A government representative, a gauger, has been at the plant the past few days making tests. The alcohol will be manufactured, it is stated, from the ivory nut, instead of from grain or wood, as by the old process.

New Telephone Company Will not Enter Monessen

FINAL ACTION IS TAKEN

Third and Final Reading by Council of Franchise Agreement

After one of the hottest councilmanic sessions in the history of the town, the Monessen council last night passed an ordinance granting the Independent Telephone company a right to enter the town and establish service which it is said was loaded down to such an extent that H. L. Lamb, the representative of the telephone company, refused to accept it. It was the third and final reading of the ordinance and the vote to pass it was finally presented for action by 5 to 4 favoring. The refusal of Mr. Lamb to accept the ordinance means that the work of the past two years of the company to gain a footing in Monessen has gone for naught, and that for the time being at least the Bell company will have no competition.

At the meeting last night there was a large number of citizens present, hoping to see the ordinance passed, so that the company would accept it, and be able to institute service. There was some disappointment manifest when the result was finally made known.

The majority of the Monessen business men and citizens are in favor of the new company, it is said, because of the up-river free service. The Board of Trade has asked the council to pass a reasonable ordinance granting the independent company a franchise. The matter has been hanging fire for two years. It is stated that the company will make another attempt to get in at some future time.

TARLETON TRADED TO TRENTON TEAM

Manager Phillips of Wheeling Gets Two Players in Exchange

Bob Tarleton, who played first base in the Charleroi team of the P. O. M. League and later went to Wheeling in the Central League, where he has remained ever since, having been drafted last season by the Pittsburgh Nationals, was yesterday traded by Manager Bill Phillips to the Trenton club of the Tri-State League for First Baseman Carnes and Pitcher Sam Edmondson. Tarleton, who was a phenomenal first sacker and hitter, was off form all this season. His inability to hit the ball was due, in Manager Phillips' opinion, to playing winter ball, and as he was not likely to regain form in his present location it was thought he might take a brace with a change of scene. He came to Charleroi from the Cotton State League of the South, having been located by Phillips when the latter was manager of the New Orleans club of the Southern League. Carnes, the new Wheeling first sacker, was also a member of the old P. O. M. and P. W. Va. League. Barney Wolfe, another former Charleroi player, has also been released from the pitching staff of the Wheeling team.

Taft Policies to Win

Editor William J. Peck of the Pittsburgh Gazette, commenting on Senator Penrose's prophecy of victory for Tener and the entire Republican ticket, says:

"In the course of an interview given out yesterday at Atlantic City United States Senator Penrose defined the issues of this year's campaign in candid and courageous terms. He laid down the principle that the sane and serviceable administration of President Taft furnishes the best claim of the Republican party to a renewal of public confidence in this year's election. This is true of every State in the Union, but it is particularly true in Pennsylvania, which is now, as it has been for years, the stronghold of protection to American industry.

"Speaking of Pennsylvania Senator Penrose said: 'Optimism has replaced pessimism. The destructionist and the muckraker are sinking back into obscurity and their places are being taken by the constructionist and the man who has faith in his fellowman, his State and his country.'"
"As the Scranton Truth says, Senator Penrose favors a square, manly fight in behalf of the Taft policies in every Congressional district in the Union and particularly in Pennsylvania, whose industrial interests have been so well cared for in the tariff revision at the extra session of Congress. The Penrose interview sounds the keynote of the campaign in this State and points the way to an old-fashioned Republican victory."

A Serious Omission

One of the serious omissions the founders of Charleroi made, in addition to the failure to provide a park, was the neglect to make provisions for a public market square. By reason of this omission Charleroi is losing many thousands of dollars annually in country trade, as well as the people of the town being debarred from regular traffic with farmers and gardeners.
Just now the omission of a public square is felt more in the lack of places for farmers and out of town people to hitch their horses when they drive into town to trade. One or two vacant lots have been utilized for this purpose, but these are not sufficient, and some of the streets are used. This is causing complaint on the part of residents and property owners, and in one or two instances the practice has become a nuisance. The question is one that should be met in some manner, as outside people will not come here to trade if they are prevented from hitching on the vacant lots and side and residence streets. Every southern town has its square and hitching rack, and provides facilities for holding street and public markets for farm and garden products. This matter is one that should not be permitted to go by the board.

More Trolley Lines

The rumor that the West Penn Street Railways company is to invade the Monongahela valley may or may not have some truth back of it. Thus far no official statements have been made concerning the project. One thing is certain, however, and that is that a good field is open for more trolley connections from the south and the interior on both sides of the river and that being the case, it is only a question of time when the opportunity will be utilized.

Few projects would be more conducive to trade expansion for Charleroi than trolley extensions. The extension of the Pittsburgh-Charleroi line on up the river to California, and thence to Brownsville, would make a connection that would unite the system with the West Penn and give direct communication by trolley to Uniontown and Connellsville and all the populous territory in the coal and coke regions. A line to Bentleyville, the original project of the Westside Electric Street Railway company, would give quick and easy traffic to Bentleyville, Ellsworth and other rich farming districts west of town, while an extension of the West Penn from West Newton to Monessen would open up communications with another rich farming district which would benefit Charleroi more or less.

Any one or all of these projects are bound to materialize sooner or later. It is possible that they can be hastened and it is up to the Business Men's Associations of the valley to help them along.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Family reunions and vacations are features of August.

Certain Lawrence county breweries have shut down on free beer. That could hardly be considered a boon to future trade.

Smart Set says that society is composed of two separate and distinct classes, those who have more dinners than appetite, and those who have more appetite than dinners. Of course it would not be difficult to distinguish which class is not the majority.

Practically the only independence the bachelor has is that he doesn't have to button down the back.

The way the backers of the third party conceal their identity is evidence that some place, some time, some of them hope to be real sleuths.

If Johnson hadn't licked Jeffries, there would never have been any trouble about these moving pictures.

According to the latest definition, a dude is not a fellow who always smokes cigars, but one who generally tries to smoke them.

Talk about Joe Mason, Honus Wagner, Fred Clarke and the rest of them being fine coaches. None of them hold a candle to David Merlin McCloskey, Esq., on a ball field. When he talks some of the others want him banished.

What business has a burglar tacking a railroad president anyhow? If he wants to make a rich haul, why doesn't he pull for the farm but?

One class accuses the plumber of being a robber, another class the printer, another the trolley company, another the grocer, and so on. But honestly we think the man who sells wheat has something on all of 'em.

The man who while taking a nap had his ear cut off, yet is mainline in the land of the make-believe, certainly has more talent for taking rest than most of us individuals who do our 8-hours work every day.

The most pleasant job of a score keeper is not keeping tab on the fielding and batting averages.

THE WHOLE ORCHESTRA.

Man Not Even the Second Fiddle Nor Drummer.

Professor Emil Reich in his work on "Woman Through All the Ages" deftly insinuates that in American life she is "the whole orchestra." He says: "These women—the American maid and wife—are fundamentally different from their sisters in Europe, whether in the past or present. Far from taking the slightest interest in man, they look down upon him. Man in America plays neither first nor second fiddle. He does not even beat the drum. He is the mere lamp-lighter of the orchestra of life in the United States."

"Nothing is more common in the States than to be asked by one of the 'bright' women: 'How do you do this or that thing?' What trick have you for doing it?' In their minds, in their inmost minds, they are firmly convinced that 'all the great artists have their tricks' with which they work upon the audience. In native elemental talent they do not believe at all. How could they? They have themselves not the trace of such talent. There are over 12,000,000 pianos in American houses, used mostly by women, yet there is not a single American pianist of even the third order. There are thousands of schools for American women, yet there is not a single American woman of note as a scholar."

I calmly state that the American woman is not and cannot be anything like the type of womanhood that, from the Hellenes downward, all European nations have considered as the right model. Women, then, in America can not develop and have never developed that peculiar charm of either beauty or grace that in Europe has always been held to be the greatest power of women.

The last word, then, in American womanhood is this, that they represent actually what the ancient Greek myths if myths they be represented symbolically—a realm of anomalous-granted upon a realm of man. The old Greek amazon is, indeed, the evident archetype of the woman of the United States.

A Test of Friendship.

Just before Artemus Ward's death, Robertson poured out some medicine and offered it to the sick man, who said, "My dear Tom, I won't take any more of that horrible stuff." Robertson urged him to swallow the mixture, saying: "Do, now—there's a dear fellow—for my sake. You know I would do anything for you."

"Would you?" said Ward feebly, grasping his friend's hand for the last time.

"I would indeed," said Robertson. "Then you take it."

Ward passed away a few hours afterward. "Recollections of the Bard crofts."

What became of Napoleon's son is a question often asked, as little mention is made in history of the young prince, the desire of his father's life, who was born March 20, 1811, amid great rejoicing in Paris and hailed as the "king of Rome." In January, 1811, Napoleon embraced his wife and child for the last time, and this really ended the reign of the little king "who never saw his kingdom." He was reared in the Austrian court under the name of the Duke of Reichstadt and grew to be a handsome young fellow and quite a brilliant scholar. He had one short year of military life and then contracted pulmonary disease, from which he died in his twenty-second year. He worshipped the memory of his father and always spent the anniversary of his death, July 22, in his own rooms. He is buried in the Carthusian monastery of Vienna, which is the Austrian Westminster abbey.

"But I do not know the candidate," said an old Yorkshire farmer who was appealed to for his vote.

"But you know his father?"

"Yes, I know him, and he's a grand man."

"Then you will surely vote for his son, won't you?"

But the old farmer was still doubtful.

"I'm no so sure about that," he replied; "it's no every coo that has a cauff like herself."—Liverpool Mercury.

Queer, but Expressive.

A Danish girl who has recently come to this country to take a course in trained nursing was complaining to a friend the other morning of having overslept herself. "Gave my fiancée a phonograph."

Money—Piercing Joy.

Ellnor was very anxious to bring home an Angora cat from Maine last summer. Her mother objected, thinking that the care of a cat from Maine was a task, so she tried to "buy off" Ellnor. "If you will say no more about the cat," she said, "I will give you a dollar to spend in Boston." Ellnor looked quite thoughtful for a moment, then said, "But, mother, how much longer a cat would last than a dollar."—Delineator.

How to Cure Eczema, Pimples and Dandruff

We desire to say that when we took the agency for Zemo, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for eczema, pimples, and dandruff. Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment of skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as Zemo has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like Zemo too, because it is a clean, vegetable liquid for external use.

Zemo effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothes or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase we give a booklet on skin diseases explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp disease by this clean scientific remedy. Piper Bros., Druggists.

Party's Fate on One Vote.

Instances are common enough in elections when a single vote turns the scale, but for that vote to decide not only the fate of a candidate, but of a party as well, is rare. Yet a majority of one in parliament, which may logically depend on a majority of one in the country, has worked some of the most momentous results possible. The classical example is the act of union of 1799, certainly among the largest, most important and most remarkable changes ever accomplished by a legislative body. One hundred and six voted for it and 165 against. Then a majority of one carried the great reform bill in 1832.

Majorities only a little bigger have again and again been responsible for far-reaching consequences. A majority of five threw out the Melbourne government in 1839. By the same figure Lord John Russell's government was defeated in 1866. Gladstone went out of office in 1873 because he lacked three votes, and the public education act, one of the most important ever passed, was placed on the statute book by a majority of two.—London Chronicle.

Wild Dogs of Asia.

The whole tribe of wild dogs, which in closely allied forms are to be found in the wildest jungles and woods of Asia, from the Himalayas to Ceylon and from China to the Taurus—unless the "golden wolves" of the Roman empire are now extinct in the forests of Asia Minor—show an individual and corporate courage which entitles them to a high place among the most daring of wild creatures. The "red dogs" to give them their most characteristic name, are neither large in size nor do they assemble in large packs. Those which have been from time to time measured and described seem to average some three feet in length from the nose to the root of the tail. The pack seldom numbers more than nine or ten, yet there is sufficient evidence that they are willing and able to destroy any creature that inhabits the jungle, except the adult elephant and perhaps the rhinoceros, creatures whose great size and leathery hide make them almost invulnerable to such enemies as dogs.—London Spectator.

Working it Out.

The following note was delivered to a schoolmistress recently:

"Dear Mum—I am sorry that Johnny won't be able to come to school to day. He has gone with his father to act as timekeeper. The sum you gave Johnny last night was, 'If the road is one and a quarter miles long how long will it take a man to walk that distance twenty-six and a half times, his average rate of progress being three and three-quarter miles per hour? Johnny ain't a man yet, so as dad's the only man in this house he had to go. They started at 4 o'clock this morning, and dad said he'd finish the sum in one day if he could manage it, though it would mean hard going. Dear mum, next time you want any information please make it 'woman,' then I can do the sum and dad-can-go to his work."—London Scraps.

A Custom of the Balkans.

He or she who enters a house for the first time is supposed in the Balkan countries to bring it good or bad luck for the whole twelvemonth. This belief gives rise to a curious observance. The visitor before crossing the threshold picks up a stone (token of strength) or a green twig (emblem of health and fruitfulness) and lays it on the hearth. He also brings with him some grains of salt, which he casts into the flames and then, squatting by the fireside, wishes his hosts "a prosperous year, a plentiful crop and many blessings." Then as the grains of salt burst and crackle in the fire he utters the following quaint formula: "As I am sitting, even so may sit the hen and warm the eggs. As this salt splits, even so may split the eggs of the clucking hen and the chickens come forth."

EIGHT INNINGS

Washington Avenues and
Lutherans Play Tie
Game

After battling for eight innings last night the Lutherans and the Washington Avenues were forced to give it up for a bad job and the teams will be given a chance to make the umpires work again. A league record for pitching was made by Fontanesi, the young Washington Avenue twirler, who for six innings pitched no hit ball. In the seventh the Lutherans got one and in the eighth they gained another hit off of him. Fontanesi also struck out 12 men.

Both teams scored in the seventh inning, one apiece. Barrass for the Washington Avenues swiped one to middle, stole second and went third when Wilson the catcher for the Lutherans forgot to stop a ball. James at bat next proceeded with due care to smash out a three-bagger, tallying Barrass. For the Lutherans Demarco went first on the second baseman's error, and stole second. He went to third on another error, and when Wilson connected for one to right, scored. The score:

VALUABLE WINDOWS BROKEN BY BOYS WITH SLINGSHOTS

New Figure Necessary in Doddridge Memorial

POLICE GET COMPLAINTS

Property Owners Who Suffer Meditate How to Catch Youngsters

Windows of houses, and property in general have been made to suffer from the endeavor of small boys to emulate the example of the Biblical David with the sling shot within the past few days. The police have received complaints from property owners where the aim of the youngsters proved not to be so good as that of the worthy exponent of sling shooting in Biblical times, with disastrous results to property.

Recently one of the large plate glass windows of Geo. S. Mights' store was broken by a boy with a sling shot, and a few days afterward the Philip Doddridge memorial window, recently dedicated at St. Mary's Episcopal church, was broken. Both the windows were expensive, and no small amount of damage was done. At St. Mary's church a new figure of a sheep will have to be restored, and this may occasion considerable trouble as well as expense. The window was dedicated by Bishop Whitehead a few Sundays ago, it having been presented by the Altar Guild of the church.

At the Methodist Episcopal church a window was broken, it is thought, by a boy with a sling shot, and other windows along Sixth street and in various parts of town have also been broken.

DIVISION AGENTS DISCUSS BUSINESS

Freight Business Along Line is Gradually Improving

Thirty-two stations were represented at the quarterly meeting of the Monongahela division, P. R. R. Agent's meeting at Pittsburgh yesterday. Superintendent A. G. Mitchell was in charge of the meeting and the discussion of freight business of the division during the three months past, and the formulation of plans for the betterment of freight conditions was the order of business.

Superintendent Mitchell stated yesterday that without exception the reports of the various agents had shown both freight and passenger traffic conditions on the Monongahela division to be in excellent condition. The freight business for the past three months, in spite of the usual summer decrease, has been above the average. Coal tonnage has been exceptionally heavy. A large amount of coke is also being carried.

E. F. Krahmer the local agent was present at the meeting.

Was Too Anxious to Say Goodbye

Man Does Not go to Inconvenience of Raising Window to Greet Friend

His desire to greet a countryman caused a foreigner to unwittingly get into a scrape this morning near Brownsville, which luckily for him did not have the serious consequences it might have had. The foreigner boarded the Uniontown train due in Charleroi at 9:05 o'clock, at one of the mining villages along the Redstone branch, entering the smoking car. Noticing one of his countrymen standing on the platform he preceded to forthwith stick his head out the window, without going to the inconvenience of raising it. He was not hurt by the breaking of the glass and went on to Brownsville.

WILL PROVIDE ROUND HOUSE AT MONESSEN

P. & L. E. Railroad to Begin Extensive Improvements Soon to Provide Division Accommodations

Announcement has been made by the P. & L. E. railroad that several thousand dollars will be expended in constructing additional sidings and the buildings of a new round house at Monessen to furnish a place for engines used in that section. The announcement is made jointly with that of the purchase of 20 acres of land from the Pittsburgh Coal company. The tract purchased from the coal company is east of Monessen a few hundred feet, and is admirably adapted for the purpose for the railroad company. The deal was but recently consummated through the W. W. Luce agency at Monessen, and while the purchase price is withheld it is understood that the property brought a handsome figure.

It has been known for some time that the company was being forced to provide greater siding facilities for engines and empty cars in order to meet the demands of the citizens, and it was rumored that the John Irons farm was being negotiated for. Work will be started on the new round house within the near future. The improvement will mean the bringing of many new families to this section.

CHURCH LEAGUE INSTRUMENTAL IN BRINGING UP MANY YOUNG PLAYERS

Minor League Scouts Might do Worse Than Look Over Some of the Charleroi Young Stars

NEARLY EVERY TEAM HAS BRILLIANT BASEBALLISTS

When the Charleroi Church League baseball season ends it will stand some of the minor league scouts in hand to take a run up to Charleroi and look 'em over. During the season a number of the youngsters have made a showing that under regular professional baseball conditions looks promising. Some of them would no doubt develop with regular practice into material that would make good, and readily advance into faster company.

Generally speaking the pitching department and the infield have been where the feature playing has been done. There is a star for every team with the stellar constellations appearing in the weakest as well as the strongest nines. Chief among these young stars might be mentioned Willie Kuhn, the Speers boy, who is playing such sensational ball on shortstop for the Episcopalians, Claude Welch, the fast Baptist first baseman, and "Bob" Newton, the promising young third baseman for the Catholics. In their playing this trio probably outranks all others.

Pete Bege, the Methodist leading twirler, because of his general reliability and versatility, is one of the most valuable players any team has. He is one of the best pitchers in the league, and also one of the best, if not the best, catchers among the youngsters. With the same facility he plays any other position. Other strong pitchers among the youngsters are Fontanesi and Osborne of the Washington Avenues, Miller of the Lutherans, Grover of the Episcopalians, Kieffer of the Christians, Larue of the Presbyterians, Beno and Buchanan of the Catholics, and Pollock of the Methodists. Bragg, the star twirler of the Episcopalians "and Kearnes" the Baptist captain and pitcher, who probably enjoy the best league record, would not probably be considered available as minor league material.

The young players are showing up better than the veterans. Second base has generally been a weak place. Butz, the young Lutheran second

GOOD GRADE OF ALCOHOL

Southern Concern Will Manufacture Product at Monessen

The Ontario Distilling company, a concern composed chiefly of southern capital, will start the manufacture at Monessen within about two months of a fine grade of alcohol to supply local and foreign markets. The alcohol will be manufactured, it is stated, through a new and infinitely cheaper process than heretofore, and the grade will be the best.

George Smith is one of the head men of the firm, which took over the old plant of the defunct Monessen distilling company last November, and applied for a charter, which was subsequently granted. Since then the machinery has been put in shape, and although the plant has been running during the past few weeks, the real manufacturer of the product has not yet begun. A government representative, a gauger, has been at the plant the past few days making tests. The alcohol will be manufactured, it is stated, from the ivory nut, instead of from grain or wood, as by the old process.

New Telephone Company Will not Enter Monessen

FINAL ACTION IS TAKEN

Third and Final Reading by Council of Franchise Agreement

After one of the hottest councilmanic sessions in the history of the town, the Monessen council last night passed an ordinance granting the Independent Telephone company a right to enter the town and establish service which it is said was loaded down to such an extent that H. L. Lamb, the representative of the telephone company, refused to accept it. It was the third and final reading of the ordinance and the vote to pass it was finally presented for action by 5 to 4 favoring. The refusal of Mr. Lamb to accept the ordinance means that the work of the past two years of the company to gain a footing in Monessen has gone for naught, and that for the time being at least the Bell company will have no competition.

At the meeting last night there was a large number of citizens present, hoping to see the ordinance passed, so that the company would accept it, and be able to institute service. There was some disappointment manifest when the result was finally made known.

The majority of the Monessen business men and citizens are in favor of the new company, it is said, because of the up-river free service. The Board of Trade has asked the council to pass a reasonable ordinance granting the Independent company a franchise. The matter has been hanging fire for two years. It is stated that the company will make another attempt to get in at some future time.

TARLETON TRADED TO TRENTON TEAM

Manager Phillips of Wheeling Gets Two Players in Exchange

Bob Tartleton, who played first base in the Charleroi team of the P. O. M. League and later went to Wheeling in the Central League, where he has remained ever since, having been drafted last season by the Pittsburgh Nationals, was yesterday traded by Manager Bill Phillips to the Trenton club of the Tri-State League for First Baseman Carnes and Pitcher Sam Edmondson. Tarleton, who was a phenomenal first sacker and hitter, was off form all this season. His inability to hit the ball was due, in Manager Phillips' opinion, to playing winter ball, and as he was not likely to regain form in his present location it was thought he might take a brace with a change of scene. He came to Charleroi from the Cotton State League of the South, having been located by Phillips when the latter was manager of the New Orleans club of the Southern League. Carnes, the new Wheeling first sacker, was also a member of the old P. O. M. and P. W. Va. League. Barney Wolfe, another former Charleroi player, has also been released from the pitching staff of the Wheeling team.

Many From Here Going to New York Resort on Vacations

Many Charleroi people are contemplating visits to Chautauqua during their vacation time, and many from this city are already there. Chautauqua is proving more attractive for valley folks this season than ever before, because of the high class of entertainment to be had there of the educational nature. About the first of August several will go from here for a two weeks' stay.

Want Church League Players to Attend Services in Body Sunday

Special seats will be reserved for the Church League players at the union services to be held Sunday evening at Christ Lutheran church in the interests of clean athletics. It has been suggested that the different teams attend in a body, as they stand now in the race for the pennant.

Taft Policies to Win

Editor William J. Peck of the Pittsburgh Gazette, commenting on Senator Penrose's prophecy of victory for Tener and the entire Republican ticket, says:

"In the course of an interview given out yesterday at Atlantic City United States Senator Penrose defined the issues of this year's campaign in candid and courageous terms. He laid down the principle that the sane and serviceable administration of President Taft furnishes the best claim of the Republican party to a renewal of public confidence in this year's election. This is true of every State in the Union, but it is particularly true in Pennsylvania, which is now, as it has been for years, the stronghold of protection to American industry.

"Speaking of Pennsylvania Senator Penrose said: 'Optimism has replaced pessimism. The destructionist and the mockmaker are sinking back into obscurity and their places are being taken by the constructionist and the man who has faith in his fellow-man, his State and his country.'

"As the Scranton Truth says, Senator Penrose favors a square, manly fight in behalf of the Taft policies in every Congressional district in the Union and particularly in Pennsylvania, whose industrial interests have been so well cared for in the tariff revision at the extra session of Congress. The Penrose interview sounds the keynote of the campaign in this State and points the way to an old-fashioned Republican victory."

A Serious Omission

One of the serious omissions the founders of Charleroi made, in addition to the failure to provide a park, was the neglect to make provisions for a public market square. By reason of this omission Charleroi is losing many thousands of dollars annually in country trade, as well as the people of the town being debarred from regular traffic with farmers and gardeners.

Just now the omission of a public square is felt more in the lack of places for farmers and out of town people to hitch their horses when they drive into town to trade. One or two vacant lots have been utilized for this purpose, but these are not sufficient, and some of the streets are used. This is causing complaint on the part of residents and property owners, and in one or two instances the practice has become a nuisance. The question is one that should be met in some manner, as outside people will not come here to trade if they are prevented from hitching on the vacant lots and side and residence streets. Every southern town has its square and hitching rack, and provides facilities for holding street and public markets for farm and garden products. This matter is one that should not be permitted to go by the board.

More Trolley Lines

The rumor that the West Penn Street Railways company is to invade the Monongahela valley may or may not have some truth back of it. Thus far no official statements have been made concerning the project. One thing is certain, however, and that is that a good field is open for more trolley connections from the south and the interior on both sides of the river and that being the case, it is only a question of time when the opportunity will be utilized.

Few projects would be more conducive to trade expansion for Charleroi than trolley extensions. The extension of the Pittsburgh-Charleroi line on up the river to California, and thence to Brownsville, would make a connection that would unite the system with the West Penn and give direct communication by trolley to Uniontown and Conneville and all the populous territory in the coal and coke regions. A line to Bentleyville, the original project of the Westside Electric Street Railway company, would give quick and easy traffic to Bentleyville, Ellsworth and other rich farming districts west of town, while an extension of the West Penn from West Newton to Monessen would open up communications with another rich farming district which would benefit Charleroi more or less.

Any one or all of these projects are bound to materialize sooner or later. It is possible that they can be hastened and it is up to the Business Men's Associations of the valley to help them along.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Family reunions and vacations are features of August.

Certain Lawrence county breweries have shut down on free beer. That could hardly be considered a boon to future trade.

Smart Set says that society is composed of two separate and distinct classes, those who have more dinners than appetite, and those who have more appetite than dinners. Of course it would not be difficult to distinguish which class is not the majority.

Practically the only independence the bachelor has is that he doesn't have to button down the back.

The way the backers of the third party conceal their identity is evidence that some place, some time, some of them hope to be real sleuths.

If Johnson hadn't licked Jeffries, there would never have been any trouble about these moving pictures.

According to the latest definition, a dude is not a fellow who always smokes cigars, but one who generally tries to smoke them.

Talk about Joe Mason, Honus Wagner, Fred Clarke and the rest of them being fine coaches. None of them hold a candle to David Merlin McCloskey, Esq., on a ball field. When he talks some of the others want him banished.

What business has a burglar tacking a railroad president anyhow? If he wants to make a rich haul, why doesn't he pull for the farm hut?

One class accuses the plumber of being a robber, another class the printer, another the trolley company, another the grocer, and so on. But honestly we think the man who sells wheat has something on all of 'em.

The man who while taking a nap had his ear cut off, yet maintained in the land of the make-believe, certainly has more talent for taking rest than most of us individuals who do our 8-hours work every day.

The most pleasant job of a score keeper is not keeping tab on the fielding and batting averages.

THE WHOLE ORCHESTRA.

Man Not Even the Second Fiddle Nor Drummer.

Professor Emil Reich in his work on "Woman Through All the Ages" definitely insinuates that in American life she is "the whole orchestra." He says: "These women—the American maid and wife—are fundamentally different from their sisters in Europe, whether in the past or present. Far from taking the slightest interest in music, they look down upon him. Man in America plays neither first nor second fiddle. He does not even beat the drum. He is the mere lamp-lighter of the orchestra of life in the United States."

"Nothing is more common in the States than to be asked by one of the 'bright' women: 'How do you do this or that thing? What trick have you for doing it?' In their minds, in their innumerable minds, they are firmly convinced that * * * all the great artists have their 'tricks' with which they work upon the audience. In native elemental talent they do not believe at all. How could they? They have themselves not the trace of such talent. There are over 12,000,000 pianos in American houses, used mostly by women, yet there is not a single American pianist of even the third order. There are thousands of schools for American women, yet there is not a single American woman of note as a scholar."

I calmly state that the American woman is not and cannot be anything like the type of womanhood that, from the Hellenes downward, all European nations have considered as the right model. Women, then, in America cannot develop and have never developed that peculiar charm of either beauty or grace that in Europe has always been held to be the greatest power of women.

The last word, then, in American womanhood is this, that they represent actually what the ancient Greek myths (if myths they be represented symbolically—a realm of amazon-granted upon a realm of man. The old Greek amazon is, indeed, the evident archetype of the woman of the United States.

A Test of Friendship.

Just before Artemus Ward's death, Robertson poured out some medicine and offered it to the sick man, who said, "My dear Tom, I won't take any more of that horrible stuff."

Robertson urged him to swallow the mixture, saying: "Do, now—there's a dear fellow—for my sake. You know I would do anything for you."

"Would you?" said Ward feebly, grasping his friend's hand for the last time.

"I would indeed," said Robertson.

"Then you take it."

Ward passed away a few hours afterwards—"Recollections of the Banquets."

THE KING OF ROMES.

What became of Napoleon's son is a question often asked, as little mention is made in history of the young prince, the desire of his father's life, who was born March 20, 1811, amid great rejoicing in Paris and hailed as the "king of Rome." In January, 1814, Napoleon embraced his wife and child for the last time, and this really ended the reign of the little king "who never saw his kingdom." He was reared in the Austrian court under the name of the Duke of Reichstadt and grew to be a handsome young fellow and quite a brilliant scholar. He had one short year of military life and then contracted pulmonary disease, from which he died in his twenty-second year. He worshipped the memory of his father and always spent the anniversary of his death, July 22, in his own rooms. He is buried in the Carthusian monastery of Vienna, which is the Austrian Westminster abbey.

Only on the Sun.

"But I do not know the candidate," said an old Yorkshire farmer who was appealed to for his vote.

"But you know his father?"

"Yes, I know him and he's a grand man."

"Then you will surely vote for his son, won't you?"

But the old farmer was still doubtful.

"I'm no so sure about that," he replied; "it's no every coo that has a cauff like herself!"—Liverpool Mercury.

Queer, but Expressive.

A Danish girl who has recently come to this country to take a course in trained nursing was complaining to a friend the other morning of having overslept herself. "And no reason why such a thing should befall me, for I had—what do you call it in English? I know, a sleep watch—all set."—Washington Star.

Strenuous Methods.

"Got a good scheme?"
"What?"
"Gave my fiancée a phonograph."
"For heaven's sake, why?"
"None of the other fellows will call on her now."—Cleveland Leader.

Financial Discernment.

"You say he displays great judgment about the stock market."
"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "So much judgment that he never tries to play it."—Washington Star.

Money—Frustrating Joy.

Elmer was very anxious to bring home an Angora cat from Maine last summer. Her mother objected, thinking that the care of a cat from Maine to come that was entirely too arduous a task, so she tried to "buy off" Elmer. "If you will say no more about the cat," she said, "I will give you a dollar to spend in Boston." Elmer looked quite thoughtful for a moment, then said, "But, mother, how much longer a cat would last than a dollar."—Dellinger.

TUMOR OF YEARS GROWTH

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Holly Springs, Miss.—"Words are inadequate for me to express what your wonderful medicines have done for me. The doctors said I had a tumor, and I had an operation, but was soon as bad again as ever. I wrote you for advice, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you told me to do. I am glad to say that now I look and feel so well that my friends keep asking me what has helped me so much, and I gladly recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLY EDWARDS, Holly Springs, Miss.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

How to Cure Eczema, Pimples and Dandruff

We desire to say that when we took the agency for Zemo, we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for eczema, pimples, and dandruff. Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment of skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as Zemo has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like Zemo too, because it is a clear vegetable liquid for external use.

Zemo effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothes or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase we give a booklet on skin diseases explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp disease by this clean scientific remedy. Piper Bros., Druggists.

Party's Fate on One Vote.
Instances are common enough in elections when a single vote turns the scale, but for that vote to decide not only the fate of a candidate, but of a party as well, is rare. Yet a majority of one in parliament which logically depend on a majority of one in the country, has worked some of the most momentous results possible. The classical example is the act of union of 1799, certainly among the largest, most important and most remarkable changes ever accomplished by a legislative body. One hundred and six voted for it and 105 against. Then a majority of one carried the great reform bill in 1832.

Majorities only a little bigger have again and again been responsible for far-reaching consequences. A majority of five threw out the Melbourne government in 1859. By the same figure Lord John Russell's government was defeated in 1866. Gladstone went out of office in 1873 because he lacked three votes, and the public education act, one of the most important ever passed, was placed on the statute book by a majority of two.—London Chronicle.

Wild Dogs of Asia.
The whole tribe of wild dogs, which in closely allied forms are to be found in the wildest jungles and woods of Asia, from the Himalayas to Ceylon and from China to the Taurus—unless the "golden wolves" of the Roman empire are now extinct in the forests of Asia Minor—show an individual and corporate courage which entitles them to a high place among the most daring of wild creatures. The "red dogs" to give them their most characteristic name, are neither large in size nor do they assemble in large packs. Those which have been from time to time measured and described seem to average some three feet in length from the nose to the root of the tail. The pack seldom numbers more than nine or ten, yet there is sufficient evidence that they are willing and able to destroy any creature that inhabits the jungle, except the adult elephant and perhaps the rhinoceros, creatures whose great size and leathery hide make them almost invulnerable to such enemies as dogs.—London Spectator.

Working it Out.
The following note was delivered to a schoolmistress recently:
"Dear Mum—I am sorry that Johnny won't be able to come to school to day. He has gone with his father to act as timekeeper. The sum you gave Johnny last night was, 'If the road is one and a quarter miles long how long will it take a man to walk that distance twenty-six and a half times, his average rate of progress being three and three-quarter miles per hour? Johnny ain't a man yet, so as dad's the only man in this house he had to go. They started at 4 o'clock this morning, and dad said he'd finish the sum in one day if he could manage it, though it would mean hard going. Dear mum, next time you want any information please make it 'woman,' then I can do the sum and dad can go to his work."—London Scraps.

A Custom of the Balkans.
He or she who enters a house for the first time is supposed in the Balkan countries to bring it good or bad luck for the whole twelve-month. This belief gives rise to a curious observance. The visitor before crossing the threshold picks up a stone (token of strength) or a green twig (emblem of health and fruitfulness), and lays it on the hearth. He also brings with him some grains of salt, which he casts into the flames and then, squatting by the fireside, wishes his hosts "a prosperous year, a plentiful crop and many blessings." Then as the grains of salt burst and crackle in the fire he utters the following quaint formula: "As I am sitting, even so may sit the hen and warm the eggs. As this salt splits, even so may split the eggs of the clucking hen and the chickens come forth."

In Hearing.
They stood upon the crest of the mountain and gazed off through the purple distances.

"Darling," he whispered, bending closer, "give me a kiss--just one!"

"No, Clarence," she answered timidly: "some one will hear us. There may be other ears around."

"Other ears? Why should you think so, dearest?"

"Oh, because I have so often heard of mountaineers I thought perhaps there might be some around, and"--

NO RESULTS IN EIGHT INNINGS

Washington Avenues and Lutherans Play Tie Game

After battling for eight innings last night the Lutherans and the Washington Avenues were forced to give it up for a bad job and the teams will be given a chance to make the umpires work again. A league record for pitching was made by Fontanesi, the young Washington Avenue twirler, who for six innings pitched no hit ball. In the seventh the Lutherans got one and in the eighth they gained another hit off of him. Fontanesi also struck out 12 men.

Both teams scored in the seventh inning, one apiece. Barrass for the Washington Avenues swiped one to middle, stole second and went third when Wilson the catcher for the Lutherans forgot to stop a ball. James at bat next proceeded with due care to smash out a three-bagger, tallying Barrass. For the Lutherans Demarco went first on the second baseman's error, and stole second. He went to third on another error, and when Wilson connected for one to right, scored. The score:
